Many Stout Figure Models

BECAUSE a woman is stout it does not mean that she cannot obtain good figure lines and look equally as well as her more slender sister.

Stout figures, properly corseted, are often a better foundation for the gown, than a slighter figure.

American Lady Corsets afford a good range of models, designed individually for varying types of stout figures, the tall stout, the short stout, the medium stout, the extreme stout—all stout figures of varying proportions.

Card Studio Changes Hands

E. R. Card, who has operated a photograph studio in Yale for several years sold to John J. Shafer, of Mayville, and the latter now has possession. Mr. Card left for Detroit Tuesday morning where he will accept a position in the Frank Scott Clark studio, one of the largest in the city. If he decides to remain there for any length of time his family will follow him. Mr. Card understands his work thoroughly and has given entire satisfaction to his patrons and enjoyed a large business since locating in Yale.

Mr. Shafer is no stranger to our people, having been in business here several years and when he moved to Mayville sold out to Mr. Card. The studio will be continued in the same stand over Mathews and Wight's drug store. He has rented Chas. Rounds' house on Park avenue. We welcome Mr. Shafer and wife to our midst.

The Presbyterian ladies will hold a bazaar at the church parlors on Dec. 5. Fancy work, aprons, lingerie, etc., will be on sale and plenty of home baking.

FOR SALE—Good piano, cheap. Inquire over First National Bank.

GRADE NOTES

Turkey, duck and goose parade in the Kindergarten this week.

Grant Ferguson is back to the Kindergarten.

Harry Little has entered the first grade.

Dorothy Shearer has left the first grade.

The third grade and Kindergarten have the flag between them this week as the number of children tardy or absent of both grades was the same.

Gertrude Guilliat attended the fourth grade for a week while visiting in the city.

The eighth grade took a straw vote on Tuesday and the result was overwhelmingly "Republican."

Frank Little has entered the seventh and eighth grade room.

The eighth grade has very successfully completed the study of stocks and bonds.

The seventh and eighth grades had a spell down Friday afternoon and the result was a tie.

Frances Fuller, while playing, fell and dislocated her arm and is absent from school this week.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A straw vote was taken in the high room Tuesday morning. One hundred and fifteen votes were cast; fifty for Wilson, sixty-five for Hughes. The dyes also carried. Great excitement prevailed.

The Ancient History people had a written lesson last week. The papers of the second division showed a decided improvement over the last test. The Freshmen are gaining.

Frank D. and Frank L. Beadle visited school Tuesday. We were glad to welcome them. They practiced football with the boys after school. It looked quite natural.

Last Thursday morning Mr. Drouyor read an interesting account of the life of J. Ogden Armour. These biographies of the men who are making America are published in Leslie's magazine.

Mr. Johnston reports a good time at Grand Rapids. Many interesting speakers were heard.

Miss Ritchie's rhetorical division gives its first program Friday afternoon. Everyone invited to attend.

Dorothy Drouyor will speak an Irish recitation at the above program. We wonder why?

Tenth week of school.

Mr. Towar and little son visited high school Friday afternoon. Mr. Towar was a superintendent for many years and is interested in the work here. His son Merle attends high school.

Leah Middleton spent Thursday in high school.

The Modern History class are enjoying the study of famous paintings.

North Branch, 20-Yale 13.

The Yale football team journeyed to North Branch Friday and presented a large surprise to the Yale people who had predicted that our boys would not score this season. Due to the fact that they were outweighed, Yale resorted mostly to the forward pass and punt and were exceptionally fast in getting down under the punts.

North Branch opened the game with line plunges and at the end of the first half had two touchdowns to their credit.

In the second half Yale tightened some good interference and Tice got away with the ball for sixty yards and a touchdown—the first touchdown of the season. In the next quarter Ritter got away with one of VanNorman's strong punts and carried it over the goal for another touchdown, but in the last few minutes of play, North Branch scored a third touchdown which meant defeat for Yale by a score of 20 to 13.

The line showed more "pep" and was very effective in breaking up plays. Tice, Ritter and VanNorman started on offense, while Williams, Adams and Lutz were exceptionally good in breaking up plays.

Brown City plays here on Friday afternoon. Come and encourage the boys.

Entre Nous.

The club was entertained on Wednesday evening by Dr. and Mrs. B. Clyne at their home on Main street. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Andrae, Dr. and Mrs. Alec Pollock and Mrs. George Young.

A fine chicken dinner was served at the usual hour and the game of 500 was then played. Mrs. J. B. Paisley taking the highest honors for the ladies and N. B. Herbert representing the gentlemen.

C. Howard Plattenburg

The second number on the lecture course was rather slimly attended, owing doubtless to the fact, it was presented on the night of election and the majority of the male portion of the population were not in the frame of mind to listen to a lecture.

But it was a great mistake to miss the treat that C. Howard Plattenburg gave in Central hall Tuesday evening. N. J. Drouyor, supt. of schools, in try to introduce the speaker to the audience made known some of the election returns first, showing what was uppermost in his own mind. He was forgiven with much laughter.

Mr. Plattenburg is a speaker of much energy and force and his anecdotes are pointed with strong moral thoughts. The subject of his address to his Yale audience was "Worms under the Bark," bringing out, what he considered the weak, festering points in the strength of the American people and our country and offering ways and means and theories for the betterment of mankind.

His hours' talk was full of life and inspiration, with enough of lightness to keep the listeners in good humor.

It seems a pity that more cannot take advantage of this lecture course the business men of Yale have been to the trouble and expense of getting. Each number is a liberal education in many ways, and is helpful in bringing the best in each one to surface, thereby making life seem brighter.

Try the next number of lecture course.

The Lafa-Lot Club

On Monday evening was held another of the social gatherings of the young ladies of the city, this one at the home of Mayme Pearce.

Several names were proposed, that this club might be known by a proper cognomen, the one finally decided upon being the Lafa-lot club, which suited the notions of the majority, better perhaps, than the "L. O. M." or the "Why" (meanings to be guessed.) So the new club is hereafter to be known as the Lafa-lot, and everyone will concede that it is an eminently proper title and one that all will live up to heartily.

The amusement for Monday evening had to do with the woman suffrage question and donning the most peculiar and antique garb that could be found, with satchels containing votes for woman, clubs, hatchets, hammers and banners, the parade marched down Main street and back, getting all the attention and notoriety the real thing could wish for.

Other stunts were pulled off at the house, stump speeches, etc., which caused plenty of merriment. When all had calmed down, refreshments of pineapple, sherbet and macaroons were served, thus rounding out a most enjoyable evening.

Detroit, Armada & Northern R'y.

(From The Armada Times Graphic)

Last Tuesday was a busy day for those connected with the final details of the Detroit, Armada & Northern Railway.

The State Railway Commission, represented by C. S. Cunningham and Engineer Byce, and the D. A. N. railroad represented by J. H. Allerdice, P. N. Jacobson, D. W. Abbott, Karl L. Davies and Engineer C. W. Hubbell, made an inspection of the Grand Trunk crossing at Fraser. The Grand Trunk was represented by Engineer F. P. Sisson. An understanding was arrived at whereby a very satisfactory grade crossing can be made. Interlockers will be installed.

The Grand Trunk crossing at Armada will be inspected by the same representation and it is safe to say that the same conditions will prevail here as at Fraser. This inspection will be made in a day or so.

But a few more arrangements remain to be made. The map of the route must be accepted by the railroad commission and hearings must be held with the Grand Trunk and Pere Marquette railroads and then dirt will begin to fly.

The bonds have been sold and work can immediately be started on construction, as soon as these few details are taken care of.

The M. P. church ladies invite you to a "Roast Beef" supper in the parlors of the M. P. church on Wednesday, Nov. 15th.

The ladies of the M. P. church will hold their annual Bazaar in the church parlors on the 8th and 9th of December. Home baking, fancy work, etc., will be on sale.

PREPARE THE CHILDREN FOR LATER YEARS

THERE is no more serious question for you to decide, Mr. and Mrs. Parent, than the kind of training your children are to have. In many homes education and training depend upon how much the parents can afford to spend.

What about Your Boy and Girl?

Will Willie have to forego his dreams of being a civil engineer, or will Mary be deprived of the musical training she has been looking forward to? Will they be compelled after school years are passed to take their places with the underpaid men and women, untrained, without a vocation?

Plan now, when they are young. Bank your money—or better still, deposit a little to their credit in this bank regularly, and when the time comes there will be no necessary "slumping" to start them off right.
